Project Title	Survey Afghan Students Attending School at the American University of Afghanistan in Kabul
Project Summary	Develop and manage a monitoring and evaluation project for Afghan students currently studying in Kabul or Central Asia.
Country	Afghanistan

Project Description

Want to know what it's like to be a college student in Afghanistan? Talk with a group of scholarship students from Afghanistan that were selected as some of the top young leaders in their country. Help the Embassy get to know them better and help us identify some of the trends that are leading to their success. The virtual intern will conduct phone interviews with 5-8 Afghan students each month, catalog their responses, and draft a detailed profile summary on each student.

At the end of the 2018-2019 VSFS program, the virtual intern will also write a report analyzing Afghan students' responses. The report will note trends of interest, including changes in the students' academic and behavioral outcomes during their time as undergraduate students. The virtual intern will work closely with the academic exchanges unit at U.S. Embassy Kabul.

Excellent oral and written communication skills required. Not required, but a plus: experience mediating focus groups, experience with qualitative evaluations or techniques, and a strong proficiency with MS Excel and/or other statistical analysis tools.
